Dear Friends,

Annual Report from Steve and Ros Bagwell

I have pleasure in sending you an annual report from Steve and Ros for your interest and prayers. This report offers an overview of their activities during 2010 and shows how these contribute to Wycliffe's goal of reaching all Bibleless groups by 2025.

We are all conscious of the current economic climate, and the financial pressures on both churches and individuals. Let me take this opportunity to thank you for your ongoing support of Steve and Ros, and your prayerful interest in their work.

Supervisor endorsements for Steve and Ros are included below. If you have any questions about any matter mentioned in the enclosed report, please do get in touch with us.

“During 2010 Steve has been a key contributor on several IT projects. As a software developer, Steve continues developing and supporting software relied upon by JAARS Finance and Operations departments to ensure wise stewardship of resources God has provided. During 2010 Steve was also part of the development team that produced the 24x7 Prayer Initiative website for Wycliffe International (pray24x7.vision2025.net). This website seeks prayer partners to pray for Bibleless minority language communities and for Bible translation workers. The desire is to have prayer for Bible translation occurring 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, from now until 2025. This project presented several technical challenges and Steve made key contributions to overcoming these challenges. The resulting site is highly appreciated and was recognized by the SIL International Executive Director, Freddy Boswell, in a note of thanks to the development team.

“I appreciate Steve's consistently humble spirit and servant's attitude. His willingness to accept new responsibilities and to keep his technical skills sharp are greatly appreciated and a blessing to me and to our entire team.”

“Ros has done very well in her current position as AR (Accounts Receivable) Assistant Co-ordinator within this JAARS Accounting department since her arrival here. She has adequately assisted the AR coordinator with processing and receiving payments of invoices. She has also helped resolve any problems that should arise, and processed all customer credit card transactions in a timely manner.

“Furthermore, she has always been a very reliable backup for the monthly PMC (Partnership Monetary Clearinghouse), the cash window and has processed payroll when needed. Most of all, she has a positive attitude and is a good team player in the department. We are very blessed to have her working here.”

Thank you once again for your partnership with Steve and Ros in the vital ministry of Bible translation.

Yours sincerely,
